Watch for neighbours

LEEMING Neighbourhood Watch suburb manager Bob Taddeo has encouraged locals to keep an eye out for each other ahead of a display and information day at Farrington Fayre Shopping Centre on Saturday (10am-4pm).

Organised to coincide with Community Safety Month, it will focus on the role of Neighbourhood Watch when it comes to community safety and crime prevention. Mr Taddeo said Leeming residents should report suspicious or anti-social behaviour to police.

"A whole of community approach is needed, which includes neighbours looking out for each other," he said.

Neighbours could help prevent crime by keeping an eye on each other's houses while they were on holiday.

"Engraving your property can reduce the risk of having your goods taken by a thief for personal use or being on-sold or traded," Mr Taddeo said.

Residents can bring property such as personal effects and bikes to the information day on Sunday to have them engraved on the spot.

To report suspicious or anti-social behaviour, call Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000 or police on 131 444.
